JIMMY McGUIRE

Clue Crew

Jimmy McGuire is proud to be an original member of the JEOPARDY! Clue Crew, and Season 37 marks his 20th season with the show. His natural enthusiasm and innate curiosity are evident when he's on camera, delivering clues from some of the world's most fascinating destinations.

Jimmy is a Pittsburgh native, who, prior to joining the Clue Crew, worked as a segment producer and reporter for a local television newsmagazine after graduating from Ohio University. He is a huge football fan, so one can imagine his excitement when he got the chance to throw passes with his favorite team – the Steelers – for a JEOPARDY! category, an experience he counts among the highlights of his time with the show.

The Clue Crew has shot clues in more than 350 cities worldwide, 50 states, 47 countries and on all seven continents. In the U.S., his travel has spanned the country from Hawaii to Martha's Vineyard, and he counts Rome, Tokyo, Dublin, Paris, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Rio de Janeiro among his favorite international locations. In April 2017, Jimmy had the "trip of a lifetime" circumnavigating the Baltic Sea aboard the National Geographic Orion with Lindblad Expeditions, a 14-day adventure of 1,700 nautical miles that took him to eight countries to record clues. Later that year, he accompanied Alex Trebek on a trip to the Galápagos Islands, another journey that Jimmy counts among his most memorable experiences.

One of Jimmy's most meaningful moments as a member of the Clue Crew took place during the summer of 2019 while traveling to Budapest with Viking River Cruises. As an American with Jewish heritage, he was honored to visit and record clues at The Dohany Street Synagogue. Also known as the Great Synagogue, it's the largest synagogue in Europe and seats up 3,000 people. He met with Rabbi Frolich, who kindly extended a personal invitation to attend his Friday night service while in town, which Jimmy accepted. He says it was a night he'll never forget.

When not taping clues for JEOPARDY!, Jimmy enjoys life with his wife, Kim, and "bonus" daughter, Madison, as well as playing golf, physical fitness, and taking drum lessons.

SARAH WHITCOMB FOSS

Clue Crew

Sarah Whitcomb Foss began exploring exciting clue locations in 2001 as an original member of the JEOPARDY! Clue Crew. Since then, her JEOPARDY! travels have taken her to 37 countries and all seven continents.

As a former news anchor and reporter, Sarah is always eager to put her journalism skills to use, seeking out intriguing locations for the Clue Crew to visit. She has proven over the years that she is willing to journey to the ends of the earth for her job: Sarah has flown over Hawaii's erupting Kilauea volcano, been catapulted off a Navy aircraft carrier in the middle of the Pacific Ocean, gone scuba diving with sharks, ridden aboard the famous Orient Express, hiked through ancient Moai statues on Easter Island and has snowboarded, skydived and parasailed—all in the name of the Clue Crew.

Two of her favorite trips with the Clue Crew were to the Arctic and Antarctica, where she recorded clues about global warming and its impact on wildlife in the polar regions. Determined not to miss out on a once-in-a-lifetime experience, Sarah decided to jump (quickly) into the water at both locations, making her one of a small group of people to have done polar plunges at both the North and South Poles.

When she's not busy exploring the globe for JEOPARDY!, Sarah enjoys traveling with her family. Her daughters, Taylor, 7, and Reagan, 2, seem to have already caught Mom's travel bug and have flown on more than 150 airplanes. Sarah and her husband, Chris, also love cheering on their college alma mater, the University of Southern California.

MIKE RICHARDS

Executive Producer

Three-time Daytime Emmy® Award winner and 17-time nominee Mike Richards is Executive Producer of two of the most successful game shows of all time: Wheel of Fortune and JEOPARDY!. He joined the iconic syndicated stalwarts in 2020 after producing over 4,000 hours of game show programming.

Before taking the reins at Wheel of Fortune and JEOPARDY!, Richards spent more than 10 years as Executive Producer of “The Price is Right” and “Let’s Make a Deal.” He started as Co-Executive Producer of “The Price is Right” in 2008 and a year later, became Executive Producer. That same year, 2009, Richards helped sell the classic game show franchise “Let’s Make A Deal” to CBS. During his tenure as Executive Producer of the two shows, which aired concurrently, he earned 17 Daytime Emmy® Awards nominations and won three: “The Price is Right” brought home the award for Outstanding Game Show at the 2013, 2016, and 2018 ceremonies.

Most recently, he served as Executive Producer of the 2020 celebrity-driven revival of “Who Wants to be a Millionaire?” as part of an overall deal with Sony Pictures Television to develop and produce game shows for network, cable, and streaming platforms.

Throughout his career, Richards has produced a wide range of programs including talk shows, dating shows, celebrity shows, reality shows, clips shows, game shows and cable news. Early on, Richards worked for television legend Dick Clark as his Vice President of Development and Current Programs. During his time with Clark, he produced several awards shows and primetime shows and was a correspondent on “The American Music Awards” and “Primetime New Year’s Rockin’ Eve.”

In addition to his work behind the scenes, Richards has experience in front of the camera. After graduating college, Richards was a stand-up comedian, which led to offers to serve as a host for multiple pilots. He hosted the WB’s “High School Reunion,” and later was the host of the reality phenomenon “Beauty and the Geek” for the CW. During that time, he also hosted a movie news show called “Dailes” that launched the Reelz Channel. More recently, he hosted the 2012 revival of “The Pyramid” and Game Show Network’s 2016-2017 version of “Divided,” which was part game show and part social experiment.

At Pepperdine University, Richards wrote, produced and hosted a weekly late-night comedy talk show called “The Randumb Show,” which won multiple college broadcasting awards.

SHOW DESCRIPTION

JEOPARDY! is in its 37th season in syndication. With a weekly audience of 24 million viewers, JEOPARDY! is the top-rated quiz show on television, and has received numerous awards and honors, including the 2020 Emmy® for Outstanding Game Show. The show holds the Guinness World Records® title for the most Emmy® Awards won by a TV game show (38 Emmys); it is also the recipient of a 2011 Peabody Award.

Created by Merv Griffin in 1964, JEOPARDY! is a daily half-hour quiz show with a unique answer-and-question format. Alex Trebek is the host; Johnny Gilbert serves as announcer; and Mike Richards is executive producer.

FORMAT

JEOPARDY! provides a test of knowledge across a variety of interesting subjects such as literature, history, science, the arts, and pop culture. Each game consists of three rounds:

- The Jeopardy! Round: Includes six categories, each with a column of five clues. The “clues” are sorted by varying degrees of difficulty and are matched by increasing dollar values. Three competing contestants are given a “clue” in the form of an answer displayed on the show’s game board. Players use a hand-held signaling device and must be the first contestant to ring in and successfully give a response in the form of a question.

One “Daily Double” (a special clue hidden behind another clue) is available during this round. Only the contestant who uncovers the “Daily Double” can respond to the clue, and before that clue is read, the contestant must declare a wager. The minimum wager is $5.

- Double Jeopardy!: Similar to the first round, Double Jeopardy! features new categories and “clues” with doubled dollar amounts for each “clue.”

Two “Daily Doubles” are available in the Double Jeopardy! round.

- Final Jeopardy!: One category is revealed by host Alex Trebek prior to the commercial break. The contestants write down a wager ranging between zero and up to their cash winnings accumulated at that point during the show. Once the final “clue” is revealed, players have 30 seconds to write a response in the traditional form of a question.

Each daily winner returns to the next day’s program as a defending champion. With no limit on appearances, returning champions may continue amassing winnings on JEOPARDY! as long as they remain victorious.

SPECIAL PROGRAMMING

JEOPARDY! offers an array of special competitions throughout the season. Examples include:

- Tournament of Champions: The JEOPARDY! champions who have won the most games during the prior season, plus the winners of the Teachers Tournament and College Championship, return to the stage to compete against one another for a $250,000 grand prize.
- College Championship: Undergraduate students from colleges and universities across the U.S. vie for a grand prize of $100,000.
- Teachers Tournament: Introduced in 2011, the Teachers Tournament puts a national spotlight on the importance and impact of educators with 15 of the nation's brightest K-12 teachers.
- Teen Tournament: High schoolers compete in a two-week tournament for a grand prize of $100,000

JEOPARDY! is produced by Sony Pictures Television, a Sony Pictures Entertainment Company; it is distributed domestically by CBS Television Distribution and internationally by CBS Television International, both units of CBS Corp.
